OBJECT DESCRIPTION

Greek cartoon [Hitler and Mussolini mice] from The Sphinx magazine. {Text in Greek} [In front of the mousetrap (Inside the trap is the word Egypt); The snack is good but I don't like Auchinleck's devil machine that is powered with cheese].

ORIGIN

The Sphinx: English Illustrated Weekly, published and distributed in Cairo from 1892 until 1947, was an English language magazine whose intended audience included British expatriates living in Egypt and elite English speaking Egyptians. Besides reporting news of interest to the English-speaking community, it offered accounts of social and sporting events in Egypt. Illustrated with photographs and other images, The Sphinx was also notable for its coverage catering to automobile enthusiasts in Egypt.
